RULING ON ENTITLEMENT<sup>1</sup>

Dorsey, Chief Special Master:

On July 7, 2017, petitioner filed a petition for compensation under the National Vaccine Injury Compensation Program, 42 U.S.C. §300aa-10, et seq.,<sup>2</sup> (the “Vaccine Act”). Petition (ECF No. 1). Petitioner alleges that, after receiving the Haemophilus influenzae type b (“Hib”) vaccine on January 11, 2016 (id. at ¶ 2), her minor child, H.S., “developed a lump on his left thigh at the site of injection” (id. at ¶ 3) and suffered “permanent physical injuries and significant ongoing pain and suffering” (id. at ¶ 7). She maintains that H.S.’s injuries were caused-in-fact by the Hib vaccine. Id. at 1. Petitioner further alleges that H.S. “endured permanent physical injuries and significant ongoing pain and suffering . . . that persisted for longer than six months” (id. at ¶ 7) and that “neither [H.S.] nor his mother have ever received compensation in the form of an award or settlement for [H.S.’s] vaccine related injuries” (id. at ¶ 8). The case was assigned to the Special Processing Unit of the Office of Special Masters.

On October 17, 2017, respondent filed his Rule 4(c) report in which he concedes that “petitioner is entitled to compensation for the subcutaneous nodule with residual skin discoloration that H.S. developed at the site of his January 11, 2016 Hib vaccination.” Respondent’s Rule 4(c) Report at 1. Specifically, respondent “concluded that H.S. more likely than not developed a subcutaneous nodule at the site of his January 11, 2016, Hib vaccination, and that this injury is not due to factors unrelated to the Hib vaccination.” Id. at 3. Respondent further agrees that petitioner has met the statutory and jurisdictional requirements of the Vaccine Act. Id. at 4.

In view of respondent’s position and the evidence of record, the undersigned finds that petitioner is entitled to compensation.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
